TREASURER MOORE MAY CAUSE APPEAL

Treasurer of Bradford County Doesn't Like Some Items in Auditors Report.

HE HAS MATTER OF APPEAL UNDER ADVISEMENT

Objects to Three or Four bills in Particular—Payment of One Bill For Services Rendered Recently, Has Been Deferred.

Hon. Frank N. Moore, treasurer of Bradford county, is seriously considering the advisability of appealing from the report of the auditors of Bradford county. Mr. Moore takes exceptions to a few items in the report, and may base his appeal on these. He has the matter under consideration.

One item to which he objects is a bill for $75 which was paid S. Bergen Park, Esq., for auditing the accounts of the prothonotary and register and recorder for the year 1907. Miss Jennie Young, who audited the accounts of the prothonotary and register and recorder for 1908, presented a bill for $75, the same amount which has always been paid for the work, and payment of this has been deferred by the county treasurer.

There are several other bills which Treasurer Moore has taken exception to, and on which he may base his claims. Some of the bills which he objects to, have been incurred by the commissioners. It is understood that he notified the auditors that if they allowed certain bills in the county statement, he would make an appeal.

In order for Mr. Moore to make an appeal from the auditors' report, he must get ten taxpaying citizens, and they must file their appeal within 90 days after the auditors' report is filed. These ten taxpayers must go into court and give bonds for all the costs which may be made, and otherwise put themselves on record as to their good intentions.

Another Big Real Estate Deal.

Another big real estate deal was consummated on Saturday when Hon Louis Piollet purchased the J. Ford Dorrance dairy farm in Wysox of the owner, J. Ford Dorrance of Dorranceton, Pa. This farm consists of 457 acres, and is considered one of the finest farms in Eastern Bradford. Included in the sale was all the live stock, consisting of 51 head of blooded cattle, Holsteins and Durhams, three fine bulls and three yearlings, together with the machinery and farming utensils on the place. The consideration was $9,000. Lilley & Wilson made the transfer. It was this farm and live stock, machinery, etc., that Charles E. Murphy of Towanda, had advertised to be sold at auction on Tuesday, March 30, at the Piollet-Patrick farm in Wysox. Mr. Murphy was acting as agent for Mr. Dorrance and the sale of the farm, live stock and machinery to Mr. Piollet makes the auction sale unneccessary, and it has been declared off.

Good Suggestion.

Says the Troy Gazette-Register: "It is suggested that a reward should be offered for the men, so called, who supply strong drink to those who cannot buy it for themselves. The suggestion comes from one who knows where of he speaks in regard to the despicable business."

Will Visit Germany.

Says the Monroeton Enterprise: "Prof. L. L. Rockwell of Bucknell is expected home tomorrow for a short vacation. Mr. Rockwell, is arranging to spend a couple of months in Germany during the summer and has booked to sail from New York about the middle of June."

Says There is No Law.

Judge Fuller, of Luzerne county, has declined to issue an order requiring all hotels and saloons to close their bars at 11 o'clock p. m. He says there is no law to that effect and he dosen't believe in judge-made law.

Dog Had Rabies.

The dog which recently ran amuck in Rome and was killed by Rev. F. J. Niles, had the rabies. A telegram has been received in Rome from the Live Stock Sanitary board at Philadelphia, which says that the head of the dog sent to them for examination, shows that the animal was suffering with the rabies when killed.

Back to the Simple Life.

Clark B. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Jhonston, has returned home from Portland, Maine, where he was stationed with the U. S. troops. His three years enlistment has expired, and he returns to the simple life.

JOHN SCANLAN KILLED WHILE PERFORMING DUTY.

Aged Lehigh Valley Employe Struck by Passenger Train.

John Scanlan, of East Towanda, a trackwalker employed by the Lehigh Valley, met his death Monday night while in the performance of his duty. At a point about midway between the East Towanda station and the railroad bridge he was struck by the northbound evening passenger train, and almost instantly killed.

Mr. Scanlan was about 70 years of age. He had been a faithful employe of the Lehigh Valley railroad company for 45 years, it being his duty of late years to patrol the track along the face of Table Rock at night. In that duty he was most faithful, and no matter what the weather his lantern could be seen night after night twinkling along his lonely way. Monday he visited his youngest daughter, Miss Nellie Scanlan, a nurse in the Packer hospital at Sayre, returning at 4 o'clock. Only a short time after going on duty he met his death Murphy & Maryott took charge of the body and prepared it for burial.

Mr. Scanlan is survived by his wife five sons—Patrick M., Daniel, Edward, John and Thomas, and two daughters, Mrs. Nathaniel Nagle of Newark, N. J. and Miss Nellie Scanlan of Sayre.

JOHN SCANLAN MET DEATH MYSTERIOUSLY.

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict That Cause of Death is Unknown.

Shrouded in mystery are the circumstances surrounding the death of aged John Scanlan, whose severed body was found on the Lehigh tracks about midway between the East Towanda station and the railroad bridge on Monday evening. Local passenger train No. 127 run over his prostrate body, cutting it in two near the waist, but whether or not, Mr. Scanlan was dead before being struck by the cruel wheels will probably never be known.

Dr. T. Ben Johnson, coroner of Bradford county, Tuesday morning summoned a jury composed of C. E. Murphy, M. L. McMahon, F. E. Morris, James Meredith, John Barrett and Thomas Strange, and the remains were viewed at the undertaking rooms of Murphy & Maryott, and an inquest held. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that "John Scanlan came to his death by causes unknown, and that his body was passed over and severed by the Lehigh Valley Westbound passenger train No. 127."

Engineer Ellis of the train which cut the body in halves, testified that he saw the lantern carried by Mr. Scanlan shortly after the train left the East Towanda station. As the train approached the lantern, the engineer saw something on the rails which resembled a human form cuddled up. He could not tell in just what position the body was laying. He reversed the engine, and applied the emergency brakes, but the train could not be stopped until the body had been struck.

There was a bad bruise on the temple, otherwise the remains were not marked. There were no indications of foul play, and it is the general opinion that Mr. Scanlan had an apoplectic stroke while walking along the track, and fell on the rails where death claimed him.

A pathetic circumstance in connection with the case is that Engineer Ellis, who was at the throttle on the passenger locomotive which cut the unfortunate man's body in halves, has been acquainted with Mr. Scanlan for 35 years, and they were very warm friends. Night after night, as Engineer Ellis pulled his train over the road, he would pass his old friend who was ever at his post of duty in watching the roadbed, and there was always a hearty salutation as they passed. It was a terrible shock to the engineer when he climbed from his cab Monday night and found his old friend under the cruel wheels.

Mr. Scanlan, who met such a tragic fate, in a short time would have been retired on a pension from the service of the Lehigh. He helped build the road, and for 45 years had been employed in various capacities by the company. For years he was watchman at the East Towanda crossing. All during those 45 years of continuous service, he was never reported for neglect of duty, neither did he ever lose a day by sickness or other cause. The highest officials of the company knew him, and were about to reward him for faithful service when death interferred.

Funeral of Mr. Scanlan.

Funeral services for the late John Scanlan will be held at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery at North Towanda.

Rare Owl Specimen.

A rare specimen of the owl family was recently killed near West Nicholson. It is what is known as the snowy owl, and is speckled like light domonick hens. It is about a foot high. It was bought by Dr. Decker, who had it mounted, and it is now being shown in the window of the drug store.—Nicholson Examiner.

TROLLEY WILL GO TO ATHENS

Bradford County Traction Company Will Run Line North on West Side of River.

WORK WILL BE STARTED SOON

Company is Only Waiting For the Charter to Be Granted, When Material Will Be Rushed Onto the Ground and Work Started.

Work will be started on the trolley road to be built by the Bradford County Traction Company as soon as the charter is secured and other preliminary arangements are made. This statement is made on good authority A Review representative in conversation with U. M. Fell, cashier of the First National bank of Towanda, who is in close touch with Messrs. Kipp Hill, Kizer and the other promoters of the line, states that the work of constructing the line will be commenced just as soon as possible. Materials are to be ordered as soon as the charter is secured.

Will Go to Athens.

The line will be built to Athens says Mr. Fell. A lnie may be built up the Sugar Creek valley to Troy and Canton, but not until after the road to Athens is completed, and perhaps not then by the Bradford County Traction company. There is one chance of a road up the Sugar Creek valley, and that is the Wellsboro-Mansfield line being extended through that district.

The road to Athens will be constructed on the West side of the river and will not cross the river until Athens is reached. The promoters of the line have gone over the ground very carefully, and after much figuring have come to the conclusion that to reach the Northern end of the county is the best plan. A connection with the Erie and D. L. & W. railroads at Waverly is very much desired, and to do this the best way is to go to Athens and connect with the Waverly, Sayre & Athens line.

There are 25,000 people in the Northern end of the county constantly clamoring for quick communication with Towanda. They want to come here and trade, or to live, and with a trolley line the gentlemen back of the proposition believe that it will be a paying investment.

BRADFORD COUNTY YOUTH KILLED AT JENNINGSTON.

Cortez Arey Meets Death in the Jennings Saw Mill.

Cortez Arey, the 19 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Arey of Jenningston, W. Va., was fatally injured in the Jennings saw mill at that place on Thursday afternoon of last week, by being struck on the head by a board which flew from a saw near which he was working. His skull was cruched by the force of the blow, causing his death on Friday morning. The remains were brought to his former home at Wilmot, this county, where the funeral services were held on Monday morning at 11 o'clock; the interment was in the cemetery at Norconk.

The Areys were former residents of Wilmot, having moved to Jenningston about six years ago when the Jennings brothers began to take the lumber off their tract of land at that place. The young man was a nephew of Mrs. W. O. Farr of Wyalusing.

Horrible Mistake.

This comes from Shinglehause, Potter county: "Resolving to break his boy of the lying-in-bed habit, a Shinglehouse man stole upstairs to the youngster's room, turned down the bedclothes in the gray dawn and gave his hopeful a good warming, as he thought. When he returned and told what had happened, his wife said that it would be the means of losing a good housemaid, who had exchanged rooms with the boy till after the spring housecleaning. And so it proved, the girl entering the unusual complaint that she was treated "too much like one of the family."

Masons Will Celebrate.

The Masons at Nicholson are planning to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the establishment of their lodge, which will take place on Saturday evening, April 3. The lodge was instituted April 7, 1909. But few, if any, of the original members are living now.

Invitations Issued.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Palmer, of Smithfield township, have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ethel, to Leslie D. Watkins the ceremony to take place Wednesday evening, March 31, at the home of the bride.

COUNTY TREASURER'S SALARY HAS BEEN FIXED.

F. N. Moore Will Receive About $1,300 For Handling Money.

Commissioners Marsh, Bird and Griffin have fixed the amount of fee to be paid F. N. Moore, treasurer of Bradford county, for handling the funds of the county. He will receive one and one half tenth of one per cent of all the money paid to him on taxes; and two tenths of one per cent on all money paid out for Bradford county and the Bradford County Poor District. This will give Mr. Moore about $1,300 per year, out of which he will have to pay his assistant.

The amount paid the treasurer is based on estimates of the money which will probably be handled during the year. Owing to the fact that Mr. Moore made a campaign promise that he would not accept over $1,500 each year for his services, the commissioners made the figures low enough to correspond with this pledge It may run over $1,300, but it is believed the amount of his fee will not total over $1,500 at the most.

FIRE AT MERRYALL.

House of W. E. Lewis Place Damaged to Extent of $175.

Fire caused a loss of about $175 to the house on the W. E. Lewis place at Merrall on Monday afternoon of last week. As soon as the blaze, which had communicated from the chimney to the roof, was discovered, the telephone alarm was sent out over the surrounding country, and W. S. Lafferty of Camptown, and E. D. Lewis of Wyalusing, took the fire extinguishers from their stores and rushed to the scene of the blaze in their autos.

With the aid of the extinguishers and water the fire was soon under control and extinguished. The only damage was to the roof of the house, and it is entirely covered by insurance. The house is occupied by Hugh Coleman.

Troy Woman Talks in Elmira.

So delighted were the ladies of the Current Literature Club of Elmira, with the talk given before them early last summer by Mrs. George G Beardsley of Troy, on the great New Orleans winter carnival, the Mardi Gras, that she was urged to repeat the talk in that city before a larger company and did so last Wednesday afternoon before an audience of 125 to 150 ladies of the Y. M. C. A Auxiliary.

$16,000 FIRE AT CAMPTOWN

Smith Merchandise Company's Large General Store Destroyed With Stock.

BLAZE ORIGINATED IN THE STORE BASEMENT

Wyalusing Firemen Rushed to Scene in Auto Transit Company's Car, and Succeeded in Saving the Barns—Lafferty and Titus Stores Threatened

The pretty village of Camptown in Wyalusing township, was the scene of a $16,000 fire Saturday noon when the Smith Merchandise Company's store with all it's contents went up in smoke.

The fire started about noon having it's origin in the store cellar. What started the blaze is not known. The flames spread rapidly, and soon the entire building was one big blaze.

Wyalusing Firemen Called Out.

The Auto Transit company's car had just reached Camptown, and was dispatched to Wyalusing for help. The car made a fast run to Wyalusing and got the Audax Hook and Ladder company truck, and 23 of the Wyalusing fire fighters, and hurried back to the scene of the fire. The firemen after hard work succeeded in saving the Smith company barn. For a time the stores of C. S. Lafferty & Son, and C. Titus were threatened by the flames, but the bucket brigade by heroic work saved both stores.

The Loss.

The Smith Merchandise Company's store was one of the largest merchandising firms in Eastern Bradford county, and Camptown's principal business place. The building and stock were valued at $16,000 with an insurance of $4,000; making the total loss $12,000.

ABUNDANCE OF COAL IN SULLIVAN COUNTY.

Dushore Herald Has Visions of Many Mining Towns and Much Fuel.

The Dushore Herald gives this cheering information: "The day is not far distant when Sullivan county, or at least a portion of it, will be dotted with coal-mining towns like Wyoming Valley is today. There is no doubt that there are vast deposits of coal in the county. Borings have been made in several places within the past few years and although the results of these tests have been kept as quiet as possible enough information has been obtained from time to time to prove that there is much more coal to be developed than is being developed in the fields now operated.

"One mining expert, who is familiar with some of the borings recently made, says he is positive that there is an abundance of coal in the county, and that capitalists will find a profitable investment in Sullivan county coal lands.

"If rumors are true, far thicker veins of coal are likely to be opened up than those now being operated. Some of these veins are likely to be better coal than that now being put on the market.

"The development of coal lands would give the farmers an excellent hame market for all kinds of farm produce and make truck farming profitable in this section."

TROY COURT.

Verdict For Plaintiff in First Case. Six Cases Continued.

The March term of court at Troy came to a close Thursday morning two cases having been disposed of, and six continued.

In the case of Seth M. Gernert vs. Charles H. Gernert, the jury returned a verdict of $126 for the plaintiff. W. D. Morse was attorney for the plaintiff, while H. K. Mitchell represented the defendant.

After the case of John H. Brown vs. the Title Guaranty & Surety Co. of Scranton was put on trial and nicely started, a juror was withdrawn and the case continued in order that the attorneys might have an opportunity to make amendments to their pleadings.

The following other cases were continued: Lizell George vs. J. F. Kuhnle; J. T. McCollom vs. Fanny Morse; Clarence W. Rockwell vs. the Township of Troy; Henry Updike vs. Welby Updike; Lelia Taylor vs. the Township of Canton.

Runaway Saturday Night.

A badly wrecked carriage on the stonepile in the rear of the court house tells the story of an exciting runaway Saturday midnight. A young man from North Towanda owned the rig, which dashed down Main street at a lively rate. The horse escaped injury, as did the driver, but the wagon is a wreck.

WYOMING CONFERENCE MAKES APPOINTMENTS.

But Few Changes Made—Owego District Ministers Named.

The Wyoming Conference was brought to a close at Plymouth on Monday, adjournment being taken just before noon. The most important feature of the closing session, with the exception of the announcement of the ministerial appointments, was the presentation of a resolution requesting the Bishop to appoint a committee to consider the matter of redistricting the conference and present a report on the same at next year's session. This project was talked of very earnestly a few days ago, but it had not been heard of in the present session until Monday morning. However, there seems to be a very general feeling in favor of the plan, as was manifested by the almost unanimous vote in favor of the resolution providing for a committee. Bishop Moore will name the members of the committee and they will go about their work in the near future.

Following are the names of the ministers appointed for work in the various charges of the Owego district, comprising the territory East of the Susquehanna river:

The Road To Success

has many obstructions, but none so desperate as poor health. Success today demands health, but Electric Bitters is the greatest health builder the world has ever known. It compels perfect action of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, purifies and enriches the blood, and tones and invigorates the whole system. Vigorous body and keen brain follow their use. You can't afford to slight Electric Bitters if weak, run-down or sickly. Only 50c. Guaranteed by Turner's Drug Store.

Reporter-Journal—$1—worth it.

For Sprains

Sloan's Liniment is the best remedy for sprains and bruises.

It quiets the pain at once, and can be applied to the tenderest part without hurting because it doesn't need to be rubbed—all you have to do is to lay it on lightly. It is a powerful preparation and penetrates instantly—relieves any inflammation and congestion, and reduces the swelling.

Sloan's Liniment

is an excellent antiseptic and germ killer—heals cuts, burns, wounds and contusions, and will draw the poison from sting of poisonous insects.

Price, 25c., 50c., and $1.00.

Now I can attend to business every day. It's a wonderful medicine." Infallible for Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Blood and Nerves. 50c at Turner's Drug Store.

KILLED HIMSELF WHILE KNEELING ON FATHER'S GRAVE

Business and Domestic Difficulties Leads Man to Destroy Himself.

Despondent over family troubles, Andrew B. Baldwin, a well known resident and merchant of Wyoming, ended his life Tuesday morning about 11 o'clock by shooting himself through the heart with a shotgun. Baldwin committed the rash act while kneeling on the grave of his father in the cemetery across the street from his home.

Baldwin and his wife had disagreed, the wife recently applying for a divorce. This move, it is believed, caused his mind to become unbalanced. The news of the suicide caused considerable excitement in the town on account of the prominence of the family. He was about the place yesterday morning, and nothing unusual was noticed in his actions. About half-past ten he went to the barber shop and was shaved, after which he mounted his bicycle and rode to his home near Third street on Wyoming avenue. There being no one at home he entered the house and secured a double barreled shotgun.

He was born in Nicholson, Pa., in 1854, and was married to Miss Emma Gingell in 1881, and was a resident of Wyoming for the last forty-one years having for the last thirty years been a merchant in the same place.

GRABBED LICENSE AND RAN.

Frank Peppard Pulls Off Peculiar Stunt at Chemung.

From Chemung, which is just over the Pennsylvania line in New York state, comes this story of a peculiar stunt:

"Last Friday "Boney" Thompson, formerly proprietor of the Road House some distance below this place took possession of the Baker House in this village. He bought out Frank Peppard in whose name the license certificate was issued and upon which instrument the Swartzenbach Brewing Company, of Hornell, held mortgage. Application had been made for a transfer of the license.

"Tuesday afternoon a few minutes before the departure of Erie train No. 36 Mr. Peppard, former proprietor of the place, ran into the hotel bar room and tore down the license certificate, stuffed it in his pocket and ran toward the depot and got aboard the train. Peppard's action is said to have been prompted by spite."

Use of Torpedoes.

N. L. Moon, superintendent of the Wyoming division of the Lehigh and P. J. Flynn trainmaster of the Buffalo division have issued bulletins making a change in the method of handling signal torpedoes on the railroad. Rule No. 4 in "special instruction" provides that "where automatic signals are in use torpedoes must not be used except in foggy or stormy weather." This rule is now abrogated and Rule No. 99 in the Book of Rules applies in the future. This rule provides that the torpedoes are to be used when the condition require it at all points on the line including the district where automatic signals are used —Sayre Times-Record.

Oil Instead of Coal.

Burning oil for fuel instead of coal, and capable of attaining a speed of sixty miles an hour, a new "comet" for special use by the officials has been placed in service on the Lackawanna railroad. The car is a combination engine, parlor and observation, and has been turned out by the Amreican Car and Foundry company from its shops at Berwick. Its cost, it is said, was $25,000. The new "comet" is a radical departure from established rules governing the construction of official cars. It burns oil for fuel, the oil being fed to the engine through pipes charged with compressed air. The engine is in one end, and is boxed in steel castings, guaranteeing freedom from dust and dirt, no matter how fast the machine is wheeling.

A man would rather be held up by strangers than thrown down by his friends.

Henry S. Wage.

The Greeley, Colorado Daily Tribune of March 22, gives the following account of the death of a former resident of Towanda, who has many relatives living in this county at present:

"Henry S. Wage died at his home Saturday afternoon March 20, of blood poisoning, caused by a cancer. The last week of his life had been one of intense suffering, the attending physicians finding it necessary to keep him under the influence of hyperdermics constantly. Had he lived until April 8 he would have been 88 years old. All his family have gone on before except his wife. One brother died a few years ago at the age of 96.

"Mr. Wage was married in February, 1890, to Gertrude Lewis. In 1897 they left their old home in Elmira, N. Y., on June 20 and traveled by wagon to the far west, reaching Greeley on September 20, rounding out a three months' journey. He first went into the shoemaking business in a building owned by Mrs. J. N. D. Sanborn on Main street, later moving to 707 Sixth street, where they kept boarders for a number of years, and from which place they moved only two months ago to the place where his death occurred on Ninth street. Mr. Wage will be remembered as an honest man, and a conscientious, though almost overzealous Christian. He was a member of the Baptist church and the Holiness association.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon from the home, and was conducted by Rev. D. D. Forward of the Baptist church."

John Stirton.

(Communicated.)

John Stirton died at his home at Bentley Creek on Friday, March 19, at 5 p. m. after an illness of six weeks. His death was caused by diseases contracted in the army. Bills Become Laws.

Governor Stuart has signed the following bills sent to him by the Legislature:

Gerberich act against skim milk and impure ice cream.

Changing form of notice of intention to file claims for contract work under act of June 4, 1901.

Continuing charge of managers of houses of refuge and reform schools over all girls committed during minority.

Punishing with a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for taking a minor to an immoral place.

Authorizing controllers of cities to appoint deputies.

Amending act of 1874 governing institutions of learning, benevolence or charity.

Amending act of 1899 relative to population may be ascertained by court proceedings.

An Old Map.

M. T. Haxton of Granville Center has an old map of Bradford county published in 1850. It is five feet long and three and one-half feet wide. This not only locates every road and stream but it also locates every house and gives the name of the families living in them at that time. Among other things, on this map Barclay township is a part of Franklin, and Asylum and Wilmot are divided up into three townships—Wilmot, Asylum and Durell. Among the pictures on the map are residence of C. L. Ward at Towanda, court house at Towanda H. W. Patrick's hotel at Athens, Ballard, Maxwell's and Hayden's Exchange at Troy, and J. M. Horton's hotel at Asylum. The name of every family who lived in Bradford County in 1850 is given. In the towns like Towanda the list of names is given separately and numbered so they can be located on the map.

Ulster to Have Ball Team

Ulster, the hustling village up the river, which in days gone by has been some pumpkins in the baseball patch is to be represented on the diamond the coming season. At a largely attended public meeting held at the Van Dyke house the other evening, the following officers were elected: President, Charles H. Ross; secretary Henry V. Matthews; treasurer, R. A Horton; manager, Fred E. Mather Grounds have been secured and will be put in shape just as soon as the weather will permit. A captain will probably not be chosen until just before the opening game. The team will be picked from the following players: Morrison, Horton, Lewis, G. Matthews, McQueen, Mallory, G. Farrel F. M. Davidson, T. Farrell, R. Cranmer, M. Cranmer, F. J. Davidson Johnson and Childs and perhaps a few young players.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A Towanda Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people nevtr suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame,weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Towanda people testify to permanent cures.

John Coats, farmer, North Towanda Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills proved to be an excellent remedy in my case. I suffered from backache for a long time and finally other symptoms of kidney complaint developed I then procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Dr. Porter's Pharmacy and they went at once to the seat of my trouble and gave me relief. I continued taking them and three boxes entirely freed me from the difficulties which had given me so much misery I cannot speak too highly in favor of this sterling remedy."

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R.V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

TOWANDA, PA., APRIL 1, 1909.

WHAT A CORRESPONDENT THINKS HE SEES.

The Sayre correspondent of the Waverly Free Press (whose style is wonderfully like that of a former editor of the late Sayre Record has nominated ex-congressman George W. Kipp for congress to again run against Congressman Pratt in the campaign of 1910. He has discovered that Mr. Pratt voted for Cannon for speaker and has also discovered that because of this the rank and file "are not so well pleased." Mr. Kipp is reported as having "his ear to the ground" and intently listening to "the rumbles of discontent" that have rumbled back to Bradford county and into Sayre borough and into the office of the former editor of the late Sayre Record. The information is given that "it is also quite likely that Mr. Kipp is keeping his weather eye upon Mr. Pratt's record." Also that the Bradford county Republican organization is in a "badly disrupted state" and has been for years. Poor old organization—what would be the size of your majorities if you could recover your health? Also that Mr. Kipp will not be slow to take advantage of "further dissensions," and of "the mistakes that Mr. Pratt may make between now and the ides of November, 1910." If this correspondent writes the truth we will get no trolley road in Towanda yet a while because Mr. Kipp will not have time to build it. He will spend the next year and a half holding his ear to the ground and watching congressman Pratt. The fact that he has begun so early and is so intently on the job indicates that his heart is in the work, and that he will have time for little else.

But, after all, it occurs to us that perhaps these rumors have not the best foundation. Isn't the wish father to the thought? Hasn't the former editor of the late Sayre Record nominated Mr. Kipp for congress not so much because Mr. Kipp wants to run as because the former editor aforesaid wants him to run? Having made a good thing in a cash way out of Mr. Kipp's 1908 campaign, isn't the correspondent self-deceived, perhaps, and unconsciously lured by hopes of another windfall, maneuvering to nominate Mr. Kipp again? However that may be, we do not believe the ex-congressman has yet been formally notified of his nomination. Maybe we will get the trolley road, after all.

REGISTERED NURSES.

Not a few women in Bradford county have during the past ten or fifteen years qualified themselves as trained nurses, and they and their friends are naturally much interested in a bill now before the legislature which provides for the state board to hold examinations, establish a registry and issue certificates to nurses of over two years' training in connection with a hospital Bills of similar intent have appeared in our legislature before but were not enacted into law. In Philadelphia and many other large cities there have been for twenty years past registration bureaus where nurses who have an adequate training extending over two years or more have "registered," and nurses who were not so qualified were not allowed to register. This registration became known to the public, was recognized by physicians, and without doubt placed the nurse on a better footing for employment. The registration was a distinct advantage and a business asset, in the same way that a physician's diploma from a reputable college of medicine is an advantage. The bill now in the legislature but recognizes a professional practice already in use, and in justice to a large and growing number of persons who are now earning their living by nursing the sick, and the value and importance of whose services rival that of the attending physician, should be promptly passed. A nurse who had complied with the requirements of the law and had registered would then be known as a "registered nurse," and a nurse who had not so qualified would be by law forbidden to use the title. Such a measure would put the business of nursing the sick on a par with other professional work, where it should be.

Governor Stuart has signed the bill recognizing osteopathy and placing the practice on a standing with other medical schools in Pennsylvania. When considering the vast amount of influence that has been brought to bear upon Governor Stuart to prevent his approving the measure his act seems to have been in this instance one of the most meritorious of his administration.—Scranton Tribune.

We are in favor of the law which the Pennsylvania legislature may pass making it a crime punishable by death to kidnap a person for the purpose of extorting money from relatives. It is drastic, but none too drastic.

THE SCHOOL BILL.

The people of Scranton are in favor of the new school bill and don't want action on it postponed until the legislature of 1911. A large number of them have petitioned the legislature to pass the bill, and they particularly urge the reduction of the number of school directors in school districts of the second class, as is provided in the bill, and their election by the district at large. Scranton has had expensive school boards for years past and the city's school debt has run up to a large figure. The people now want to reduce the membership of the school board to nine in number, and think if they do this they will be able to get better men.

It is now reported that the school bill is likely to pass this session. The bill was to have been made a special order for this week, and more than one hundred amendments have been made in it with a view to satisfy the rural members as well as those from Philadelphia and Allegheny county. It will be remembered that the convention of Bradford county school directors, held in Towanda a few weeks ago, was in favor of the passage of the bill without delay. It remains to be seen what will be done by the legislature. It is a matter of grave importance, and the educational interests of our county and of the entire state have been fully alive to the situation and taken much interest in the measure since it made its appearance quite early in the session. The bill constitutes an entire revision of the school laws of the state, and is believed by nearly all educators to be a most creditable measure and a great improvement.

We note as a matter of interest that last week the code commission and the House education committee at a joint meeting rejected the following suggested amendments to the code: Mileage for teachers attending county institutes; to fix the salaries of superintendents after and not before their election; an annual allowance of $100 a year for postage to county superintendents; increase minimum salary of assistant county superintendents from $1,200 to $1,500; prohibiting relatives of directors from serving as teachers; compulsory vaccinations; rebate for prompt payment of taxes; power to dismiss pupils suffering with eczema; appoint directors with reference to localities; compulsory display of the United States flag; play members of the state board of education a salary of $3.000 a year; summer school at State College; traveling allowance for county superintendents.

Governor Hughes of the state of New York has a direct way of getting things done. He regards the people as the source of all power in the state government, and when he particularly wants something done he asks the people to do it. Ordinarily a governor resorts to the legislature when he desires a law passed, and if the legislature won't accommodate him he suspends effort and waits for a more friendly body of lawmakers at the next session. But Hughes is different He knows well who has the power and that the men who come together at Albany will in the end have to od as the people tell them to. He now wants a direct primary law passed, and is going to take the stump in its behalf. And he will probably get what he wants.

Scranton has a councilman who don't know much. He is not only a councilman but he is chairman of the committee on public works and is also in the liquor business. He got mad at Mayor Dimmick the other day because he expressed a favorable opinion of the order of court closing the liquor places at midnight, and to get even with him he defeated a measure of public utility relating to the city parks, and threatens that he will go further and as chairman of an important committee will defeat every administrative measure, good or bad, brought forward by the mayor. We should say that this man's specialty was nerve. For a man in the liquor business to threaten the mayor because he is not in favor of letting the saloons run all night is evidence of a colossal nerve and a dull perception of the trend of things. Shrewd liquor men nowadays are fighting hard for their privilege of staying in the business at all, and are not disposed to attack public officials for favoring restrictive laws. Our advice to this councilman is to take what favors he can get in his business and keep quiet.

The primary election bill now before the New York legislature will, if passed, not only do away with county and district conventions, but with state conventions as well. Pennsylvania didn't want it that way in her primary law, and the state convention was retained by practically unanimous consent. Pennsylvania has not been sorry she decided that way. In a number of states in which the state convention was eliminated there is agitation for a return to them. The party in any state needs some authority through which it can speak and declare itself on current issues in state affairs, and there can be no better authority for such a purpose than a state convention, constituted of delegates elected by the direct vote of the party electors at uniform primaries.

Our contributor, King, one day last week, read in The Review of a large egg brought in by M. W. Coolbaugh measuring 7x8. He read this item to his hens, whereupon one old Plymouth Rock said he would beat this to a frazzle. She immediately got to going some and the next day dropped one measuring 7x8¼.—Bradford Argus. There is an obscurity in the above announcement which leaves one in doubt as to whether he or she laid the egg. But it was a remarkable performance either way.

THE WORM HAS TURNED ..

One of the marvelous occurences recorded in the newspapers the last few days was that of a farmer's automobile running over a city man Verily times have changed when the agriculturist is seated at the steering wheel and the dweller in the populous haunts of men is lying prone in the plebian dust. Time was, and that not very long ago, when the sylvan quiet of the unsuspecting rural hamlets and the pregnant silences of the country roads were shattered only by the insolent honk-honk of the hated city motorist. The triumphant progress of these urban juggernauts left in its wake a battefield strewn with limping agriculturists, snorting horses, yawping dogs and squawking hens.

His satanic majesty's antipathy to holy water was a mild prejudice compared with the fierce aversion at that time of the ruralites for the "red devils" from the city. The sons of the soil gave vent to curses loud and deep whenever they heard the haughty buzz that swelled into a defiant roar as it was wafted backward on the oil laden zephyrs of the countryside. The halls of state became the arena where was fought the irrepressible conflict between Dobbin and the whizz wagon and the best the automobilists got was the worst of it at the hands of the legislatures.

But now the farmer, failing to conquer, has "jined" the ranks of the autoists. He blithely betakes himself to the city on a fine morning, buys a gasoline buggy and proceeds to run over the peaceful laborer wending his homward way after a hard day's toil for the wherewithal to buy some of the farmer's foodstuffs. Verily the worm has turned, and has become a crusher of worms himself.

FARMER AND THE RAILROAD.

President Winchell of the Rock Island, in discussing railroads recently, expressd the opinion that in a few years the farmer is liable to practically own the railroads of the country. President Winchell says in part:

"It is not far in the future when the farmer is likely to be one of the best purchasers of railroad securities. We can easily think of him as owner, not only of the respect of the Legislature, but of enough railroad securities to be in actual control of the railroad properties and their policies."

Those who have given study to the question would be pleased if the prophecy of the Rock Island President could come true. It would be a happy thing if the farmers owned a share of the railroads of this country. In fact it would be much better if the bulk of railroad securities was in the hands of the common people instead of being distributed among a few big capitalists. If the railroad shares were owned in small blocks it would on the one side increase the demand for greater publicity in the management of the affairs of the roads. The people interested in the welfare of this or that line would not be apt to regard the conduct of the business with the indifference that is now manifested by the average person.

On the other hand more extended distribution of railroad securities would undoubtedly soften much of the bitterness against railroads and disarm the prejudice which in many instances is uncalled for and unjust The Altoona Tribune says the term corporation never has such a disgreeable sound when one owns stock in the enterprise. There is no question that the fulfillment of Mr. Winchell's prophecy would do more to bring about the millennial condition so far as railroads are concerned than all the legislation that can be devised by industrial experts, sociologists and civic advance agents.

In a pessimistic moment the editor of the Lancaster Examiner suspects that the old-fashioned knitting needle has disappeared. He was quoting from the Barnesville (O.) Republican a statement to the effect that a certain housewife always dips a knitting needle into the milk brought by her milkman and if it does not adhere to the end of the needle when it is drawn out, reads the riot act to the man for diluting the milk with water After recommending the housewives of Lancaster to imitate this example the Lancaster scribe professes to believe that it could not be tried for the lack of a knitting needle. But does he not recall that on the evening Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt left Washington after the inauguration of Mr Taft the lady was observed in the drawing room of the car busily engaged in knitting? And there are still many like her.

It is not surprising that the grangers are taking steps to have the legislature make compulsory the freight act that permits trolley companies to convey light freight and express packages outside of first and second class cities The enormous increase of freight traffic along the main lines of railroads creates a demand for better facilities and while the trolley companies are by law permitted to carry freight few avail themselves of the privilege and therefore little relief has been afforded the dweller in remote communities. It is now purposed to compel trolley roads to help te farmers in this matter and to insist that electric railways shall be used to transport the class of freight that will aid the rural residents to send their goods to market. It is said that the legislature will pass the amendment making this service compulsory.

If Congress wants to know how an inhertance tax works, let it investigate the Pennsylvania statute, which for many years has been producnig a large amount of revenue without hurting anybody, says The Harrisburg Telegraph.

UNITED STATES POSTAL SERVICE

Its Magnitude and Its Great Importance to Every American Citizen.

GREAT WORK OF THE POSTAL COMMISSION

Its Recommendation if Enacted Into Law Will Work a Revolution in the Postal Service—Col. W. R. Andrews' Address.

The following address of Colonel W. R. Andrews, secretary of the joint commission of Congress on business methods of the Post Office department and Postal Service was delivered at the banquet given by the postmasters of Pennsylvania to Senator Penrose March 20, 1909, at the Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia. At the request of many postmasters, who wished to preserve in permanent form the data which it contains it is published in this paper. It contains so much interesting and instructive information relative to a subject which concerns everybody and about which there is so general lack of information that it is believed that many besides postmasters will be glad to read it:

Mr. Toastmaster, guests of the evening and hosts:

I appreciate the compliment of having been invited to this testimonial dinner given in honor of the senior senator of Pennsylvania and the chairman of the Senate Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads. I am sure that if the matter had been left with him he would have shirked the publicity, but I am glad to have the opportunity of saying in his behalf that by reason of his intelligent, energetic and wholehearted endeavor to discharge the duties entrusted to him to the satisfaction of his colleagues and to the people of the United States, no one could be more deserving.

Largely at the instance of the men you have assembled to honor tonight a commission was authorized by the 59th Congress to investigate the Business Methods of the Post Office Department and Postal Service. This commission consisted of three members of the Senate and three members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the presiding officers of the respective houses. This commission at its first meeting elected Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania, Chairman and Jesse Overstreet of Indiana, Vice-Chairman. At the same meeting the Secretary of the Commission was instructed to communicate with the leading accounting firms of the United States, advising them of the creation of a Commission and to invite suggestions as to the manner in which the investigation, a stupendous task, should be undertaken. In response to these communications a large number of proposals were received, but in going through the correspondence and weighing it well the Commission was of the opinion that the views of two of the most prominent accounting firms in the country who enjoyed international reputations appeared to have a better grasp of the situation, and accordingly arrangements were entered into by which these two firms were employed to undertake the work.

The start was made on May 1st, 1909, and the work was vigorously prosecuted by a large number of experts until November of the same year when a final report was submitted to the Commission. The investigation had been made in every division of the Post Office Department for the purpose of ascertaining the business methods and to suggest improvements on business lines. The report of the experts was then taken up by the Commission, many meetings were held, and finally at the last session of the 60th congress a bill was hammered into shape based upon the recommendations submitted by the experts and presented in the two houses of Congress. The work was of a monumental character and will ever endure to the credit of the members of the Mommission as an example of painstaking laborious work in the interest of the installation of modern business methods in the great governmental machine which handles the postal matters of the people of the United States. The bill presented at the last session of Congress will unquestionably be taken up for consideration at the regular session of the 61st Congress and those best able to judge are of the opinion that if its provisions are enacted into law the administration of our postal affairs can thereafter be done at a profit instead of a loss.

The Committee on Post Office and Post Roads of the United States Senate is the busiest committee in the Senate. To this committee is charged the responsibility of considering the largest appropriation bill devolving upon Congress, which for the ensuing year aggregates the stupendous figures of $234,000,000. This appropriation provides for the maintenance of the postal service which includes the pay of all postmasters, the rental of post office premises, the post office clerks, the carriers, the railway mail clerks, and the transportation of the mails by horseback, stage coach, sailing vessels, railroads, steamboats and steamships, pneumatic tubes, electric and cable cars throughout the United States and the insular possessions thereof. It is a gigantic work, but how faithfully those duties are discharged is attested by the satisfaction of the patrons from the smallest and most insignificant office to that of the most important in the land.

In addition to the appropriation bill there are referred to the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads all the nominations for postmasters at Presidential offices wherever the flag of the United States floats, which during the 60th Congress aggregated three thousand four hundred nominations. In disposing of this mass of business much labor is involved; every nomination for postmaster sent to the Senate by the President must be journalized, giving the name of the nominee, his place of residence and the name of his predecessor, and in cases where an unsatisfactory nomination is made the Committee is deluged with protests by wire and petition, the disposition of which involves a vast correspondence.

The Committee consists of a membership of 14 Senators; nine Republicans and five Democrats. These senators act as sub-committees for the several states. The nominations in the states for which a senator acts as a sub-committee are given to him to report thereon in executive session of the Senate after the nominations have been brought to the attention of the two senators representing the state in which the nominees reside. If there be objection on the part of either senator action is withheld, otherwise the nominations are reported with a favorable recommendation and placed on the calendar. To tabulate and note the action of the Senate is a labor if importance, for it must be accurate in order not to invite censure for carelessness. And, after an experience upon that committee of several years, I have satisfaction in stating that so far as I can now recall there has never been a complaint. This is due to the oversight and tireless energy of the man whom we have met here tonight to honor.

The beginning of the American post dates with the signing of a patent dated Feb. 17, 1671, vesting in Thomas Neale the American Post. On the fourth of April following, Neale and the Royal Postmaster-General appointed Andrew Hamilton Postmaster-General of America. Hamilton visited all of the Colonies and satisfied each of his ability and resources in the new venture. The co-operation of all the Colonies, except Virginia, having been secured, services began on May 1st, 1693, and existed in a weekly post from Portsmouth, New Hampshire, to Boston, Saybrook, New York, Philadelphia, Maryland and Virginia. Five riders were engaged to perform fortnightly. The mail carriers rode through the wilderness in this year beginning, 1693, but every year following brought improvements.

Hamilton died in 1703, and his son, John Hamilton, succeeded him. In 1707, the Crown purchased the good will of the American Post Office for 1664 pounds Sterling and continued John Hamilton as postmaster with an annual salary of 200 pounds. From 1707 to the year before the Revolution the General Post Office in London controlled the service in America.

In 1711 there was a weekly mail in operation between Boston and Maine and a fortnightly exchange between Boston and New York. In 1717 mail run weekly between New York and Williamsburg, Virginia, and ten years later there was a fortnightly mail between Philadelphia and Annapolis, Maryland.

The real period of activity in the establishment of postal facilities began with the appointment of Benjamin Franklin as postmaster at Philadelphia in 1737. Franklin made many improvements in the system and the revenues began to increase, but in consequence of some difficulty he was removed in 1774. When the Continental Congress met at its second session in Philadelphia, July 26th, 1775, Congress resolved to have a post office system of its own and Franklin was elected to carry on the work. A salary of $1.00) per annum was voted him and permission given to appoint a secretary and controller with a salary of $340.00 per annum each. Franklin's great diplomatic talents, however, soon transferred him to a wider field of usefulness and in 1776 his son-in-law, Richard Bache, was appointed to succeed him. Bache was succeeded in 1782 by Ebenezer Hazard.

The Colonial Congress in October, 1782, passed an Act authorizing the Postmaster-General to establish a line of posts between New Hampshire and Georgia and to such other places as Congress might direct. The salary to be paid them was at his discretion but not to exceed 20 per cent. of their postage revenues. The rate on postage at that time on letters weighing not over one pennyweight, and to be transferred not more than 60 miles, was equal to 5½ cents, and in proportion for greater weights and distances.

By an Act passed September 7, 1795, the Postmaster-General was authorized to enter into contracts for carrying the mail in stage coaches. On the 8th of May, 1794, Congress passed the first law for the proper management of the postal service. In 1799 the postal laws were revised and flogging substituted for the death penalty for robbing the mails. This law was, however, repealed by a subsequent enactment and imprisonment for a term of years made the penalty.

In 1801 it required 40 days to get a letter from Portland, Maine, to Savannah, Georgia, and bring back the answer, and 44 days for a letter mailed at Philadelphia, addressed to Nashville, Tennessee, to reach its destination and get a reply. The progress made since that date marks the wonderful march of development of the United States and this can better be illustrated by comparison between the statistics of the Post Office Department in 1808 and those for 1908.

In 1808 there were post offices of all classes in the United States, 1944; in 1908 these had grown to 61,158.

In 1808 the compensation of postmasters was $128,653.00; in 1908 it required $25,599,397.52 to pay the postmasters.

In 1808 the number of mail routes were 4,319; in 1908 there were 27,131.

In 1808 the length of the post routes in miles amounted to 34,035; in 1908, 213, 922.

In 1808 the amount paid for transportation of the mails aggregated $305,499.00; in 1908 it required $80,483,114.94.

In 1808 the number of pieces of mail handled by the department amounted to 36,022,963; in 1908 these figures had grown to 12,979,722,243.

In 1808 the gross revenue of the Post Office Department was $460,564; in 1908, receipts were $191,478,663.41.

In 1808 the gross expenditures of the Post Office Department aggregated $462,828; in 1908 the figures had grown to $208,351,866.15.

At this juncture it is proper to call attention to the fact that as early in 1808 the difference between the gross revenues and gross expenditures showed a deficit of $1,736, thus proving that those who insist that our sturdy forefathers were more careful in the management of public affairs than the public servants of today are trading on tradition instead of facts.

The postmaster from the earliest date down through all the intervening years has been regarded, and rightly, as the one citizen of the town to whom the people could go irrespective of party, race or creed, for information and advice, and those towns that have prospered most have been favored with good postmasters; those who not only understood the intricacies of their calling, but were wideawake and energetic in promoting the best interests of the communities over which they presided. And, after an experience of several years as clerk of the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, it gives me satisfaction to state that the records of the Post Office Department discloses that the majority of these men who handle our mails and are entrusted with public moneys have splendid records to their credit for honesty, efficiency and courtesy in discharging their duties to the Government and to the patrons of their routes. cf py wcfmm cwfwm cmfww offices.

The postmaster is a most useful and influential citizen, and, from knowledge, I can say unhesitatingly that when my attention is called to a live town I know that that town is blessed with a postmaster who stands O. K. not only with the authorities at Washington but with the public.

PREVENTABLE DISEASES.

It is not without good reason that the country is becoming aroused over the cost of preventable diseases. Here is the yearly bill which an expert estimates that we pay for three great typical American diseases: Tuberculosis $1,000,000,000, typhoid $350,000,000, malaria $100,000,000. In October 1907, Pittsburg had 638 typhoid cases. In the same month of the following year, with an improved water supply, there were only 96 cases.

That means that we could save three hundred million dollars a year by preventing most of the typhoid cases, if we would. And it begins to appear that we will. The waste has been put by another authority in this graphic fashion: "Every seven years we waste on disease and sickness of various sorts, all of which could be prevented, enough to pay for the Panama Canal, to duplicate our Army and Navy equipment, to deepen all our inland waterways, to double our shipping and commerce, to pay our National debt, to abolish taxes, and to put a billion dollars surplus in the National Treasury."

Truly the gold mine of today is to be found in living, not merely the simple life, but the wholesome life.

At a hearing the other day before the Senate Health and Sanitation Committee at Harrisburg on the Herbst-Shreve one board medical bill the Christian Scientists were represented by former Lieutenant-Governor L. A. Watres of Scranton. Mr. Watres made a fervent plea for the Christian Scientists, of whom he said he was proud to be one. He declared and reiterated that Christian Scinetists were not opposed to surgery and medicine, but that they demanded the right to continue to practice the art of healing by prayer.

BRADFORD COUNTY GIRLS MAY WIN NEWSPAPERMAN.

International League of Press Clubs Will Meet in the Bermudas.

The board of governors of the International League of Press Clubs met in New York on Saturday. President Daniel L. Hart of Wilkes-Barre presided. It was decided to hold the next convention in the Bermuda islands. The board proceeded to the office of the Cook Agency and secured a boat which will leave New York on May 20, reaching Hamilton on May 22.

The meeting of the Press Clubs, representing the newspaper profession from all over the world, in the Bermudas in May, adds to the attractions of the free trips to those far famed isles to be given seven Bradford county young ladies. And who knows what Dan Cupid will do when a handsome and brilliant newspaperman meets a beautiful and charming Bradford county young lady.

TREATING IS PROHIBITED

Rules for Liquor Sellers Laid Down by Indiana County Court.

Treating has been prohibited in Indiana county this state. Out of a list of twenty-five applicants for liquor license in that county decision was handed down on nineteen, ten being granted and nine refused. Each applicant granted a license was required to sign an agreement in substances as follows:

"That he will conduct his hotel tor the accommodation of the public. That he will carefully observe the law as to the employment of persons of temperate habits, the sale of liquor to men of intemperate habits, persons visibly affected and to minors. That he will close his bar as provided by the court, and on Sundays, election days, the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving day and on Christmas. That he will at no time permit persons to so crowd his bar room that those in charge can observe how sales are made. That he will not permit loud profane or boisterous conduct. That he will not permit treating at the bar but will furnish liquors to the individual purchasers only for his own personal use."

After the applicant had signed the foregoing agreement it was placed on file in the office of the Prothonotary and it is understood that the Court will insist that the signers of the agreement live up to the stipulations it contains. Failure on the part of anyone to do so, it is understood, will rseult in the license being revoked The Court, it is claimed, is being generally commended on its rulings in the matter.

McCarthy Visits Penitentiary.

Jack McCarthy, who was sent to the Eastern penitentiary at Philadelphia, and who was taken from that place to a state asylum at Harrisburg, from which place he recently escaped, had the nerve to go back to the penitentiary. One of the Philadelphia papers says that the night after McCarty's escape from the asylum at Harrisburg, he returned to Philadelphia, and visited the penitentiary and inquired for prison agent, F. J. Cooley. He was very persistent in his search for that official but could not find him. McCarthy was unknown to the people of whom he inquired, and when it was learned who he was, search was made, but he could not be found.

Rome Teachers' Class.

The annual four weeks drill for teachers' examination will begin April 19. Tuition for the term is $4. All books furnished except Pennsylvania Citizen and those on theory of teaching; however those who can, should bring with them Maxwell's grammar, McNeill's mental arithmetic, Milne's algebra, and some U. There is nothing a woman will not do to regain her lost beauty. She ought to be fully as zealous in preserving her good looks. The herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine or Lane's Tea is the most efficient aid in preserving a beautiful skin, and will do more than anything else to restore the roses to faded cheeks. SAYRE'S CITY HALL COST SUM OF $23,566.22

Annual Statement Shows That Borough Spent Large Sum.

The financial statement of Sayre borough shows that the town spent during the last year the total sum of $41,497.35 for all purposes.

A large amount of this was for permanent improvements $23,566.22 being spent on the town hall, and lateral sewers cost $3,046.98. This last mentioned sum is assessed against the property of the abutting owners and already a large part of it has been paid back to the borough by the owners of that property. If the sum spent for permanent improvements is deducted it leaves $14,844.29 for current expenses.

The expenditures other than the town hall and for sewers was: Streets $2,437.49; water, $1,742.69; lights, $3,804.98; sidewalk rebates, $626.32; police, $2,932.52; parks, $108.80; board of health, $924.71; elections, $113.54; fire department, $1,154.71; general expenses, $1,038.53. The bonded indebtedness of the borough is $39,500.

Of this amount $25,000 is for the trunk line sewer and $14,500 for the town hall. One of the town hall bonds having already been paid.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT.

E. L. Teeter Wins His Suit in the Troy Court—Interesting Case.

The jury in the case of C. J. Bloom and J. G. Conderman vs. E. L. Teeter whic was the most interesting case tried at Troy last week on Friday returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, Mr. Teeter.

This was an action involving $1,200 growing out of a lease of the Bloom & Conderman cold storage plant at Troy by Mr. Teeter for one year with the privilege of five years. He returned the key the day after the year closed and suit was brought for four years more rent. The case was called Tuesday and was not given to the jury until Thursday afternoon. D. J. Fanning and W. D. Morse represented the plaintiffs and Sechrist & Hickok and H. K. Mitchell the defendant The defendant's brother-in-law, former District Attorney Knapp of Elmira assisted in the defence in an advisory capacity

Bell Telephone Statistics.

In the annual report of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, President Theodore N. Vail sets forth the usual statistics, which indicate by the growth of the business the place which the telephone holds with the public. There was a total of 4,364,629 telephone stations connected to the Bell system as against 3,839,000 at the close of the previous year, an increase of 525,629 stations. Of the total, there were 1,103,144 exchange and toll stations connected to the Bell system by toll or long-distance lines, but operated by some 7,700 local cooperative, and rural independent companies or associations having sub-license or connection contracts.

Coal Dust Destroys.

Luzerne county's $2,000,000 Court House is being destroyed more rapidly in proportion than it took to construct it. The Dorrance breaker, owned by the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, is causing the destruction by sending down coal dust by the ton. This is fast blackening the exterior and doing great damage to the interior by setting on the beautiful marble pilars and fine furnishings. Because of this damage proceedings are to be started in the course of a short time to have the breaker condemned as a nuisance.

Honesdale Publisher Sued.

Wm. H. Kain, formerly of Honesdale, but now of New York, has brought a suit in the United States Court at Scranton, against Benjamin F. Haines of the Honesdale Independent for slander, damages laid at $25,000. The Independent sometime ago published an account in which it was alleged that Kain purposed to shoot some woman if she would not marry him. Kain says that the woman swore in the suit that they had never spoken to each other.

Sneak Thieves in Canton.

The residence of Mrs. Thomas Brann and Mrs. Benjamin Adams in Canton were ransacked by sneak thieves while the owners were attending church service Sunday evening. At the Brann home they carried off only a few small articles of jewelry and silverware, while at the Adams home they took $47 inmoney and also some keepsakes belonging to Miss Mary Adams, a daughter living at home So far no clue to the robbers has been found.

IMPROVED ROAD FROM EAST ATHENS TO ROME

Farmers Are Enthusiastic For Better Highway—Inspection Made.

If the efforts which are now being made by the farmers of Litchfield township are successful, there will be an entirely new public road established between East Athens and Rome

The latter place is situated about seven miles from Athens, and with the exception of about three hundred rods the road connecting the two places, which has been used from the time the memory of men runneth not is up and down steep hills, and in the spring and fall of the year sections of the road are exceeding difficult to travel. Nearly all of the farmers who use this road transact mercantile and other business in either Sayre or Athens, and it is said to be one of the most used highways in the county.

Recently the farmers in Litchfield conceived the idea of changing the route of the road and Wednesday afternoon the county commissioners went over to the township and viewed the proposed route. A drizzling rain somewhat retarded their progress, but as the commissioners are all personally familiar with that section of the county, it is not likely that they will deem it necessary to make a second inspection. The commissioners were accompanied by about forty enthusiastic farmers who are interested in the proposed change. The plan provide for the almost total abandonment of the old highway, and the new route will follow what is known as Satterlee creek. This creek flows west into the Susquehanna river, and there would of necessity be some grade which would gradually descend from Athens to Rome, and vice versa.

The proposed route, however, will be a great improvement over the old road, and although the commissioners gave no inkling as to their intention it is the concensus of opinion among the farmers who were present that there will be no difficulty in securing their aid, provided the right of way can be secured from the farmers who own property joining the creek.

It is further suggested that if the present plans are successful efforts will be made to make the new route a state road.

MUST PAY TAX.

Real Estate Men Will Have to Divvy Up Ten Dollars Each.

Real estate men, those engaged in renting dwellings and other properties, on commission, will have to pay a mercantile tax to the State. In 1907 the Mercantile Tax law was amended so sa to include real estate dealers so as to include real estate dealers and that this amendment is to be en Sayre which says:

"Last year, Sayre real estate men by some oversight on the part of the mercantile appraiser, escaped taxation but this year it will be different. A mercantile appraiser was in Sayre the other day appraising the various stocks of merchandise, and after he had finished this task he visited the local real estate men. He informed them that they came within the provisions of the law and that this year they would have to pay into the state treasury the sum of $10 each, provided their commissioners on rents collected do not exceed $5,000 per year There are no real estate men in Sayre whose commissions exceed this amount, and therefore it will cost them an even ten dollar note to do business."

ALL GONE.

Plymouth Wife, Three Children and Money Disappear From Home.

An elopement which has caused nearly as much distress to George Fear of Plymouth as the kidnaping of young Willie Whitla of Sharon did to the latter's parents, happened Thursday night when Fear's wife ran off with a boarder said to be John Pulasi, taking her three children with her. The woman is also said to have carried off $1,509, the savings of her husband.

The latter stated that he did not mourn the loss of his wife or money but he wanted his children. The police of Wilkes-Barre and many other cities have been instructed to be on the lookout for the missing people but as yet their capture has not been reported.

Twice Refused a Divorce.

In the second trial of the divorce suit of attorney Aaron Augustus Chase of Scranton against this third wife Geneva Edith Chase, the jury rendered a verdict Thursday morning in favor of the defendant and thus attorney Chase is again refused a divorce. He intends to now bring a third trial against his wife asking for a divorce

NORTHERN PENNSYLVANIA FARMER NOW EATS OLEO.

"Poisoned Stuff," So Bitterly Fought by Grangers, Now on His Table.

"One of the queerest things in the history of the Northern Tier of Pennsylvania is taking place just now, writes a Mansfied correspondent of a Philadelphia paper. "In this great dairy district the demand for milk and cream is so strong that all the farmers are making money fast. The milk condensing plant at Wellsboro, the butter-making factories and the creameries are all paying high prices. And now many farmers are selling every ounce of milk produced and are eating oleo.

"Oh, it's the truth. The Mansfield Advertiser relates how one farmer drove into Covington for a fifty-pound tub of oleo. The newspapers are filled with letters on the subject and there is a hot discussion going on as to the ethical side of the case.

"The farmers are divided into two classes, one side holding that it is wrong for them to have anything to do with the artificial product which they so bitterly fought, while the other faction contends that they should be permitted to sell their cream to make 40-cent butter and feed their own families on oleo at 17 cents a pound. They say it's only a matter of taste and, of course—expediency.

"At any rate, the discussion has stirred a Northern Tier poet to verse, and he tells it this way:

The Alderney and Jersey cows all hang their heads in shame;
The milkweed droops along the path, alfalfa does the same,
While timothy and clover turn appealing to the sky,
And from the butter bowl and churn the salty brine doth cry:
There's crepe along the pasture bars and on the milky way,
And everything upon the farm looks woefully, they say.
The butter ladle's grieving hard, and everything is so
Because 'tis whispered, "Farmer John, is eating Oleo."

At first with fear he watched it's onward march from western home;
"Twould eat him out of bed and board if it were lowed to roam."
John fought its coming tooth and nail, and with his might and main
Abused the legislators, 'cause they wouldn't put the same
Restrictions 'round the "poisoned stuff," as if it were a pest:
He swore and fumed, he fussed and raged and said if it were best
He'd shoulder up his rifle, and off to war he'd go,
To put forever down that foe of farmers—Oleo.

But creameries they came about with fancy price of milk,
And butter went up in the air—about the price of silk;
It seemed too bad to use the stuff, it was like eating money,
And for the spread upon his bread John substituted honey.
But hated Oleo at last, at 17 per pound.
It was by far the cheapest spread that ever came around;
Like Lorell, it beckoned him, until it charmed him so
He hiked to town and loaded up on western Oleo.

John likes it on his flapjacks and his bread and biscuit too,
And his wife finds many uses which she can put it to.
With butter 40 cents a pound he takes his milk and cream
And sells it to some "easy marks, and then goes home to dream.
About the way his bank account is mounting to the sky.
With visions of a motor car which over land will fly
A tearing off some 50 miles an hour or so,
Because he's putting down the friend of farmers—Oleo.

Many Are Rejoicing.

Many Towandians are rejoicing over the fact that the trolley line is to be built to Athens. The hustle, bustle and noise of Towanda's many busy industries, and the constant rush of business has made rest impossible for many who have struck upon the plan of going to Athens, Sayre and Waverly to sleep. The 7:30 local train every Saturday evening carry a number of Towandians who go to one of the above named places and rest up over Sunday, coming back to the City of Promise refreshed and in tip top shape for the grind of business. Had it not been for the promise of a trolley line to the up river villages, a company would probably have built a large sleeping room on top of Table Rock mountain where the Towandians could go for a rest each week-end.

EDITOR TAYLOR OF NEW ALBANY MAKES NOMINATION

Happy-Go-Lucky Tom Y. Rott, Interested in the Bermuda Trip.

F. L. Taylor, the billiant and versatile editor of the New Albany Mirror, has nominated a candidate for the Bermuda Island contest which is being conducted by the Towanda Printing company. This is the official document which he sent in:

New Albany, March 25, 1909.

Towanda Printing Co.,

Gentlemen:

I have filled out the nomination papers to the best of my "knowledge and belief" I have left no rock the same side up to rake in the golden ten spot. I am rather foolish to try to help you build up the circulation of the Daily Review, for I have had several say to me this year, "I am taking the Daily Review now, so you may stop your paper." Well that's pretty bad from one view, but I am a sort of a happy-go-lucky cuss-tomer and I really do like to have the folks up here read a first class paper—they get that in the Review.

Hoping that you will find the enclosed papers all O. K., I remain

Yours very truly

F. L. Taylor.

HE CERTAINLY DID GO AROUND SOME

Tioga County Man Whirled Around Shafting and Escapes Death.

Saturday afternoon, March 13, Ervie Leonard, who conducts a saw-mill at Farmington, Tioga county, met with an accident which he will not forget for some time. How he escaped instant death is not only a mystery to himself but also to those who witnessed the accident says the Wellsboro Advocate.

Mr. Leonard while engaged in some work about the mill, was caught in the belt of a fast revolving wheel and whirled around the shaft until his clothing was completely torn from his body when he was thrown some distance away. Workmen in the mill who witnessed the accident ran to the prostrate form expecting to find life extinct, but were amazed when he opened his eyes and said: "Gee whizz! didn't I go some?"

When the accident occurred Mr. Leonard, besides his underclothing, wore two pairs of pants, a heavy outside shirt, and a pair of rubber boots and when picked up only two small strips of underclothing, one on his ankle and one on the wrist remained. The boots were torn to shreds. At the top of the shaft was a large beam about twelve inches away, between which and the shaft his body was whirled. Besides a dislocated hip and a few bruises Mr. Leonard is as good as ever.

Amatuers Play Well.

The drama entitled "A Green Mountain Boy," a down east story of love romance, difficulties and happy ending, was successfully and entertainingly given by the young people of Granville Center, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week in the opera house at that place as a benefit for the Y. P. S. C. E. The characters were well handled by the young people, those taking part being C. E. Dickinson, L. T. Grenell, John Ross Willis Saxton, DeWitt Vannoy, Edward Selleck, Efner Santee, Rodney Crofut, Helen Selleck, Ethel Pepper Nell Shedden and Uphamie Taylor. Interesting features of the entertainment were clog dancing by Wilbur Dunning of Troy, and excellent music by the Granville orchestra. The attendance was large.

A. D. Coolbaugh, Village Clerk.

A. D. Coolbaugh, a former well known resident of Towanda, where he served as clerk in the postoffice, has through the success of his faction in the Republican party in the late election, regained the position of village clerk of Elmira Heights. A fair salary goes with the position, and Mr. Coolbaugh's many friends in this section rejoice in his success.

MAGAZINES FOR APRIL.

St. Nicholas.

The first feature of the April St. Nicholas is the story of "What Diffidence Did," by Augusta Huiell Seaman. Diffidence was a dear little lass of Continental times, who had some wonderful experiences with great folk, and the story is really about a lovely pearl locket as well as about Diffidence. There are helpful hints for other bright boys in Walter Dunham's "Boys With a Business" in the April St. Nicholas—giving illustrations from experience of the truth that "the same rule that makes a successful business man makes a successful business boy; that is, to find something which people need, and then let them know you can supply it." Two specially interesting and helpful serials for the older readers of St. Nicholas are the illustrated account of "Modern Magicians" and their tricks by Henry Hatton and Adrian Plate, and further account of "From the Drum of the Savage to the Great Orchestra" by Jessie Katherine Macdonald.

Lippincott's.

Among the short stories in the April Lippincott's August Kortrecht's "The Little Fat Skeleton," stands out prominently, being both novel and humorous. "Woman Disposes," by Geo Allan England, is another remarkable tale. Others worthy of special mention are "The Captain's Charm," by Anne Warner; "The Freight That Went South," by Caroline Lockhart; "Miss Cluny of Cartmel," by Will Levington Comfort; "The Apparition," by Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Harvey B. Bashore contributes a serious but interesting paper entitled "In the Day of the Cave Men," This is the only special article in the number except for three brief ones in the "Ways of the Hour" department—"The Western Story," by Ellis O Jones; "A Fresh Calamity," by Clifford Howard, and "Open-Faced Diplomacy," by Phil Collom.

The April Century.

"Foreigners, travelers who come to 'see Naples and die,'" as Neapolitans sometimes rather contemptuously say of those who give a couple of days to their adored city often abuse Naples and abuse the Neapolitans," writes Robert Hichens in the April "Century" in a picturesque description of "After the Earthquake." "They speak of dirt and extortion, and shut their mouths with a snap as who should say, 'That settles it!'" We must not be angry with them; they simply do not understand. Napolitan faults are on the surface. But Neapolitans have many virtues; so many that most people—even foreigners!—who live much among them grow to be very fond of them."

Birthday Party.

A merry company assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Merrick at East Towanda Thursday March 18 to celebrate the anniversary of Mr. Merrick's birth. The day was spent in pleasant intercourse, and music. At noon a sumptuous dinner was served to which all did ample justice. After thoroughly enjoying the day, all departed feeling it had been well spent and wishing the host many happy returns of the day. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Vanness, Mrs. Wirt Ennis and daughter of Liberty Corners, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vanness, Mrs. H. Parks, Mrs. J. Welliver, of Rummerfield, Mrs. E. Wickizer and daughter of Macedonia, Mrs. G. W. Vanness of Towanda, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Vanness and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Vail and daughter, Miss Fannie Vanness, Miss Mary Daugherty, and T. J. Vanness, of East Towanda.

Herrickville Citizen Injured.

David Flemming, a prosperous farmer living at Herrickville, was very seriously injured on Friday of last week. While milking a cow in the stable, another cow kicked him between the shoulders, knocking him over between the cows, frightening them so that before he could get up, he was kicked three times in the face, on the neck and on his side. His cries for help were answered by his daughter who rescued him from beneath the feet of the frightened bovines. He was seriously injured, and at present is in a critical condition.

Souvenir Cards.

Representative Charles E. Mills of Bradford county, is sending out to his constituents a post card on the reverse side of which is printed the photographs of the members of the judiciary general committee of the house of representatives. Mr. Mills is a member of this committee.

Put This Stove in Your Kitchen

It is wonderfully convenient to do kitchen work on a stove that's ready at the instant wanted, and out of the way the moment you're done. Such a stove is the New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove. By using it you avoid the continuous overpowering heat of a coal fire and cook with comfort, even in dog-days. The

NEW PERFECTION

is so constructed that it does not add perceptibly to the heat of a room. It differs from all other oil stoves in its substantial CABINET TOP, with shelf for warming plates and keeping cooked food hot, and drop shelves for holding small cooking utensils. Has every convenience, even to bars for towels. Three sizes. With or without Cabinet Top. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

LAND OF THE LILY AND ROSE BECKONS MANY

Though Contest is Young, a Large Number of Candidates Have Entered the Field and Are Working Diligently.

GIVE YOUR CANDIDATE AN EARLY LIFT FOR THE FREE TRIP TO BERMUDA

For the information of proposed contestants and their friends, the Towanda Printing Company makes it known that the operations of the contestants for the beautiful Bermuda trip are not limited to any prescribed territory; all of the young ladies, no matter from what district they may enter, are entitled to seek renewals of old subscriptions, or to secure entirely new subscriptions in any territory they wish, whether in their own districts, or in other districts, or entirely outside of all the districts. A contestant will compete only against those young ladies who enter from her own district, but she may obtain votes from any locality whatsoever.

The Towanda Printing Company is being commended on all sides for its action in offering six young ladies with their chaperone, seven in all, a trip and vacation at absolutely no cost to them, except a little effort on their part in asking their friends and neighbors to support them.

The Towanda Printing Company believes in the policy that when it has anything to give out it should go to the people of Bradford County. In other words, among the people who support the paper, and who make it possible to get out a live, fearless up-to-date newspaper.

And the amount of interest aroused already in the announcement of these popular trips is an indication that there will be some hustling done by the various contestants to be one of the fortunate seven to take this trip to the islands of Bermuda.

And the best part of the affair is that the Towanda Printing Company Pays all the bills. Hotel bills and every other bill.

Come in and ask for more particulars in the interest either of yourself or a friend—about this wonderful and unquestionably generous offer. That is, if there is any misunderstanding, though the rules have been explicitly told in the "ad" sheet announcing the contest, if there is a feature we have not made clear to your mind do not hesitate to make inquiries. Our offer will not entail any expense on your part. Could anything be more liberal?

If you do not read the Daily Review and you wish to be one of our contestants, send us your name and address and we will gladly send you a copy daily. You will then become more familiar with our offer.

TO BE A WINNER.

First—Familiarize yourself with the conditions of the contest.

Second—Let your friends know you are "in to win" and you will be surprised as you see your score start skyward. The laurels will be yours for the mere "reaching out" for them.

Now is the time to begin. When the contest closes you want your name to be among the list of those who are the victors. Get your friends busy with their shears clipping coupons, which will appear daily in The Review and weekly in The Reporter-Journal. Don't forget a Journal coupon tallies six votes for you, but best of all is to get the easily obtained subscribers for the best local papers.

This is going to be a trip worth while and by a little effort on your part, you can be one of the victorious seven, who will leave in May for a trip that will be complete in all its appointments of a first class tour. If you should be a winner and it would not be possible for you to embrace this offer in May we will very willingly make concessions that will prove satisfactory to you. Do not let that circumstance discourage you.

A representative of Thos. Cook & Sons, the famous tourists agents, will accompany our guests to look after the comfort and pleasure of the party, and the Towanda Printing Company "tourists girls" will receive courtesies and honors that do not come to the lot of the usual travelers and which will make this trip an event that can always be looked back upon with genuine pleasure.

NOMINEES NAMES APPEAR TODAY.

Today the Reporter-Journal presents the names of the young ladies nominated in the different districts in our great Bermuda Islands popularity contest. These names have been suggested by friends of the young ladies. Some have been nominated by several persons. Included in the list are some of the best young ladies in Bradford county. Among them are some who are determined to be winners. From every point in the different districts nominations came in a steady stream all the week. It augers well for the popularity of the charming contestants; it shows how anxious their friends are to help them. If you have not entered the contest do so at once.

The contest territory being divided into six districts affords representation generally and one young lady from each district is sure to win.

Don't miss a copy of The Daily Review; there are some surprises beyond the fondest expectations of the aspirants for the crowns to appear. It is a friendly race in which the fair contestants will engage and the laurels to be won will be fitting tributes for the efforts of the young ladies engaged in the greatest contest ever held in this and neighboring counties.

THE CONTESTANTS MAY WORK IN ANY TERRITORY THEY CHOOSE.

They must be residents of a district to win within that district, but they may go into any district to get the coupons that are printed in the paper and to secure the "paid" subscriptions on which special ballots are issued.

There are no conditions which do not apply to all alike, it is a fair field where the ambitious contestants have an equal chance of winning. As many candidates may enter as comply with the conditions and regulations of the contest. A word to the wise—get yourself a campaign manager, or better still, two campaign managers. Get them to assist you in mapping out a plan of action. Prepare a list of all the people you know and get their subscriptions. Secure all the coupons that appear in The Daily Review, get your friends to do likewise and their friends, and before you know what has happened you will be the centre of attraction in an endless chain.

Careful, steady, conscientious work is what counts in everything we do in this world. Let that thought be entertained in your mind frequently. Frequently counselling with your manager or managers will prevent a misunderstanding of plans. The "everlasting at it" will win.

GETTING ACQUAINTED ABOARD SHIP.

Think of the pleasure and educational benefits to be derived from a trip to these islands of the sea. The appearance of the long dark lines of smoke to the south and an eastern horizon denotes the presence of steamers treading their respective courses, although the intervening distances are too great to allow the vessels themselves to be seen.

The tour representative on board has already explained to the members of our genial party the manner in which the time of day is told in ship fashion, so when "four bells" are sounded all know that the opportunity to partake of six o'clock supper is at hand, which pleasure everyone has been anticipating for some time, thanks to the invigorating atmosphere that pervades throughout the voyage.

Seated at table, our young ladies have greater facilities for becoming acquainted with their fellow passengers than were greeted on the spacious promenade deck, and soon the hum of conversation—broken occasionally by peals of laughter, resulting from a sudden flash of wit or the telling of a humorous experience—has become so pronounced that one could easily form the opinion that all were old time friends.

Our girls' stories are listened to with rapt attention, and when fully narrated there are many expressions concerning the desirability of residing in a county containing such nice young ladies and a newspaper so liberal and up-to-date as the Reporter-Journal making possible the combination of efforts that has brought so much happiness to all. Supper over, the party adjourns to the upper deck to witness nature's great transformation from sunset to twilight, then to starlight, bringing into play scenic effects far surpassing those attempted on any human stage or in any picture by any artist, no matter how famous he may be.

Is it not surprising that our contestants are making every endeavor to win the tour prizes.

Following is the list of nominations thus far made in the contest. If your favorite is not represented in the list nominate her. She has the same opportunities.

BLACKLEG.

Owners of livestock in Bradford, County whose cattle are exposed to the infection of blackleg or blackquarter, may have their cattle vaccinated against this disease by the State Livestock Sanitary Board without cost to the owner of the cattle by complying with the following rules:

1. An application for vaccination shall be filled out and mailed to Dr. Leonard Pearson, Secretary of the State Livestock Sanitary Board, Harrisburg, before April 18th, 1909.

2. The application shall contain the name and address of the owner of the cattle, a statement as to the location of the farm upon which the animals are kept and the number of animals in the herd.

Vacinations cannot be made at the expense of the State Livestock Sanitary Board upon application received after April 17th. For such cases vaccine will be furnished free of charge, but the owner will be required to defray the expense of employing the veterinarian to administer it.

LEONARD PEARSON,
State Veterinarian.

More Men Go to Rochester.

Seven more men who have been employed in the Lehigh car repair shop at Sayre went to Rochester Saturday. It is stated that 117 men who formerly worked in Sayre are now on the pay roll at Rochester, and this latest acquisition will raise the number to 124. This will make a considerable falling off in the population of Sayre as many of the men intend to move their families to that place.

Industrial School Closed.

After a very successful year the Towanda Industrial school was closed on Saturday afternoon. Refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served to seventy children. Books hair ribbons and cups and cancers were also presented to the children.

WENT THE PACE THEN DIED BY HIS OWN HAND.

F. H. Richardson, Former Prominent Elmiran, Commits Suicide.

Trapped in his room in the Hotel Lynch at Harrisburg, from which there was no escape, F. H. Richardson of Elmira, wanted for the embezzlement of $300,000, slammed the door in the face of the chief of police about 1 p. m. on Wednesday of last week and a minute later killed himself with a bullet through his head.

The suicide marked the closing of the career of one who at one time was one of the most influencial men in Elmira. Richardson was president of the J. Richardson Shoe company, which in 1907 was declared insolvent and when it was discovered that besides money in this concern the president had a credit of $250,000 on false statements in Pennsylvania banks, eight warrants were sworn out for his arrest. Richardson fled to Chicago and then to Pittsburg. From there he was traced to Harrisburg and a telephone call from Elmira Wednesday morning warned Chief of Police George of the Harrisburg force that the man was in the Pennsylvania capital.

The man was in his room at the time the chief went to the hotel. The door was thrust open at his knock and the man's head appeared for an instant. Then before the chief had a chance to make a move the fugitive observed him, slammed the door and bolted it. An instant later the pistol shot rang out. The door was broken open and Richardson was found lying on the floor with his dead under the bed. A stream of blood was pouring from his head. Death had claimed him.

The troubles of Frederic H. Richardson came about through his unwise and unsuccessful conduct of the prosperous shoe business left by his father and which he conducted under the name of J. Richardson & Co.

Richardson lived a fast life and spent greater sums than his income warranted. The climax came in December, 1907, when the company was forced into bankruptcy.

The liabilities proved to be $385,000, and the assets $105. In bankruptcy court Richardson's methods came to light.

It was discovered that Richardson had obtained credit by making false statements of the company's financies. He doctored his books and his accounts and sent out flourishing statements of his company affairs.

He inserted false pages in his books and tore out other pages. He sent his clerks and bookkeepers away and made the changes himself when they refused to enter in the embezzlement.

A wife and two daughters whom he deserted after his failure, survive.

"HELLO GIRLS" MAY USE BUT A SINGLE WORD.

Bell People Say That "Number, Please" Query is Too Long.

Because they believe their operators waste much valuable time and effort in the continual "Number, please," the officers of the Bell Telephone Company are contemplating a change in that familiar salutation. In fact, if the plan they have in mind is adopted the salute of the "hello" girl will either be a simple "please" or just the query, "number?"

The only reason for hesitancy in at once inaugurating the use of the word "number" is a question in the minds of the officials as to whether they can impress upon the operators the necessity of putting so brief a response to a call in just the right tone. Sweetness of voice is an art in which the majority of telephone girls are past masters and is regarded by the telephone companies as one of the most important essentials of an operator.

The use of the present greeting "Number, please," was brought about because it contained both the query and the pleasing and euphonious qualities of a "request." The simple word "number," it has been feared, has too much of the quality of an abrupt order and it is for that reason that no decision as to which salutation to adopt has as yet been reached.

Just imagine the sweet tempered, swift fingered, black eyed, dimple cheeked, charmingly disposed operators in Towanda exchange of the Bell company leaving off the word "please" which fired in dulcet tones as is the custom makes the party at the other end of the line almost forget both the number and name of the party they desire to converse with.

EXPECT GOOD SEASON.

Fish Wardens Say That Trout Will be Large and Plentiful.

Fish wardens in this part of the State say that notwithstanding the unusual and prolonged drought last Fall, there will be nearly as many large trout in the streams as there were last Spring, and that fishermen may expect a good season. The drought killed millions of small trout however, as a great many of the smaller streams ran dry, but the big fellows got into the large streams and will return to the small trout streams when they are again in a normal condition.

The damage done by the drought to the trout will not be felt until the season of 1910, the fish wardens say and an effort will be made to overcome this damage as much as possible by planting the largest number of trout fry ever placed in the streams in one season. Where one can is usually planted each season, three cans are to be planted, if the supply from the State hatcheries holds out. By this means the loss among the smaller fish caused by the drought can be overcome, it is alleged.

SAYRE PEOPLE HAVE THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

Auto Rolled Down Steep Embankment But No One Was Seriously Injured

Sayre was the scene of an automobile accident on Wednesday afternoon which was a thriller to be sure, and that the party escaped not only death but also serious injury is remarkable indeed.

A large Mitchell touring car driven by Austin Wolcott went over the bank from Cayuta street rolled over three times and landed in the bed of an old mill race some twenty feet below, and only one of the four occupants of the car received any injury.

Mr. Wolcott and his sister, Mrs. George Norris, had been out riding with Mrs. C. C. Yocum. They had left Mrs. Yocum at her home and were on their way home when they overtook two children, Lena Sargent and Carroll Forbes, who were going home from school and they were invited to ride, and with all four in the car they proceeded. They had reached a place on Cayuta street, a short distance from the Milltown chapel, where the road runs close to the bank, when the wheels of the car caught in a rut that had been made by wagons drawing heavy loads of sand and gravel from the beds of the east side of Milltown While trying to get the wheels out of the rut the car ran against a sluice way that extended diagonally across the road, and the driver temporarily lost control of the car, and it shot off the bank.

Mr. Wolcott, Mrs. Norris and one of the children were thrown out as it went over the bank, but one of the children remained in the car and escaped unhurt. Mrs. Norris had one arm bruised, but otherwise sustained no injury while the others were unhurt.

The car turned over three times in going down the bank, and finally landed in the dry bed of the old mill race that formerly carried water to the woolen mill formerly located some distance below.

The bank here is about twenty feet high. The front wheels of the car were damaged and the steering gear broken, but otherwise it was not damaged.

CLOSE CALL.

Rapid Transit Auto Car Narrowly Missed Destruction.

Says the Wyalusing Rocket: "The Lehigh Valley work train north bound Friday afternoon, came near to putting the Auto Transit Co's. car out of commission for good and all. It appears that the car had loaded up its passengers from the 4:38 train and had pulled out from the station on its way up town.

"Chauffee Stone looked up and down the tracks, but saw no danger and feared none, as the passenger had just pulled from the depot. But the work train, which runs its mile-a-minute clip as well as the famous Black Diamond, when returning home from its day's work, was coming up the tracks and as the auto came on the crossing it was then so close that everyone believed that a smash-up was sure to come.

The engineer reversed and threw on the emergency brakes, piling up the men in the caboose and nearly wrecking that car, and the quickness with which that was done allowed the auto to cross the tracks, and made a miss as good as a mile in effect, although the miss was a scant foot."

MAXWELL'S LONG RUN OVER

Junior Car Ends Non-Stop Trip of 3,000 Miles.

Pittsburg, March 24.—The official stopping of the Maxwell Junior here today, after reeling off 3,000 miles, was an event of much importance in connection with the automobile show. Arriving on Tuesday night, the driver of the doughty little car delivered to the Mayor of Pittsburg the message of cheer and prosperity sent by Mayor Reyburn, and then started off again its motor never having stopped once to complete an even 3,000 miles. Officials of the Pittsburg Automobile Club were on hand at the official stopping of the car, whic took place before an enthusiastic throng of motorists and others.

The car brought reports of deplorabel road conditions from Harrisburg to Pittsburg. Through the Liggonier district the car had to travel at low speed in order to navigate the treacherous territory.

The above from the Philadelphia Record proves beyond question our claims for the sturdy reliability of Maxwell cars. The exact duplicate of this car can be seen in Manville's Garage—Maxwell is the car you can afford to own.

AWFUL RASH ALL OVER BOY'S BODY

Weeping Eczema Kept Spreading on Little Sufferer—A Score of Treatments Prove Dismal Failures—Grateful Father Tells of

CURE ACHIEVED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"It gives me great pleasure to express my deep gratitude in appreciation of the incalculable benefit that the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent did my little boy. He had an awful rash all over his body and the doctor said it was eczema. It was terrible and used to water awfully. Any place the water went it would form another sore and it would become crusted. A score or more physicians failed utterly and dismally in their efforts to remove the trouble. Then I was told to use the Cuticura Remedies. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and before we had used half the Resolvent I could see a change in him. In about two months he was entirely well. When people see him now they ask, 'What did you get to cure your baby?' and all we can say is, 'It was the Cuticura Remedies.' So in us Cuticura will always have firm and warm friends. George F. Lambert, 139 West Centre St., Mahanoy City, Pa., September 26 and November 4, 1907."
